

Turrentine-Jackson-Morrow

Privacy Policy

We understand privacy is important to visitors to our website. Please review the following information to understand what information we may gather and how we may use this information once it has been gathered. When you use our site, you are agreeing to the terms set forth below. The policy may change at any time, without notice.

Personal Information

We may collect personal information when you complete an online form, respond to a survey, post comments or memorials, request information, or have other interaction with the site. When you send an email through our "Contact us" online submission, one of our funeral staff will use your information to respond to your request. We do not sell, rent or disclose nonpublic information about our customers, except as required or allowed by law; your information is securely maintained solely for our use in conducting our business.

Memorial posts, obituaries, and other public postings

We may publish obituaries and other information on our website, as arranged with family members. We will not publish information a family has requested remain private. We allow public postings of memorials. However, we reserve the right to review and edit all submissions, including photos, and will refuse those that contain offensive or vulgar language, or otherwise do not meet our standards for publication.

Analytics

We collect analytics on visitors to our site so we may create and provide a better online experience for our customers. We do not use this information to collect personal information, just as a name or email address.

DoubleClick: We may use Google Analytics remarketing codes to log when users view specific pages or take specific actions on a website. This allows us to provide targeted advertising in the future. If you do not wish to receive this type of advertising from us in the future, you can opt out using the DoubleClick opt-out page or the Network Advertising Initiative opt-out page.

External links

Our site may contain hyperlinks to outside companies, and other companies may link to our site. Those companies may have different policies from TJM, and we are not responsible for their policies.

Rev: 6/2016