Chris may not have been the handiest tool man or have an abundance of tools, but if you needed something done he still found a way to make it happen! Watching him with Rani & the girls, & the love he had for them was awe inspiring. Hearing Rani's stories of his slickness to surprise her with the things she would never do for herself show just how much he always made sure they were taken care of & always had the best. Dear God, My prayer is this, that you cover Rani & the girls & family with your love. That you GUIDE GUARD & PROTECT them as they find a way to move beyond the loss of Chris but always remember his light through their stories & memories. That you show them how he will always be remembered in Marley's smile and through Breeze as she will only have pictures & the words from those around her to remind her how big his love was for them. May one day they find peace & comfort in this material world, till they seem again in your arms. Love, The Catheys
