Ray & I want to say that the hardest thing in the whole world is giving up our babies. Its just not the way its suppose to be. I know in my heart that we were blessed to have Eli for over 21 years but its never long enough. I keep remembering our cruise 2 weeks before Eli was taken from us, and I can just see him having fun and living life to the fullest. We have so many good memories,to keep in our hearts forever .

DOROTHY DAVIS, FEBRUARY 10, 2006

As you all probably know, Eli was my bubs. He was my brother. He was my best friend in the UNIVERSE. Eli knows every single thing about the person I am, and now he knows the person I will be. My best friend is in Heaven with Bubba and Ronnie. I know they are all looking down at us right now and thinking "Why are they so sad? We're finally free. They don't know what they're missing." And even though Eli doesn't think I should be upset, I lost my best friend. He won't be here for the rest of my life. My entire world has just shifted in what seems like a millisecond. My babies won't have they're Uncle Eli, he won't be there to see me get married. But, I WILL see my brother, my best friend, my bubs again someday in Heaven. I'm willing to wait as long as I have to just to see his smile, feel his arms around me and smell the sweet smell of my brother. God Bless you all. Leslie

Misty: I know your pain. The greatest loss. But, if we had not loved so much...we would not hurt so much. "I loved the boy with the utmost love of which my soul is capable and he is taken from me-yet in the agony of my spirit in surrendering such a treasure, I feel a thousand times richer than if I had never possessed it." William Wadsworth 1812
