My thoughts and prayers go out to the Branson family. Kim brought so much joy into everyone's life. He was a man that I admired and respected. Kim lived his life to the fullest and never complained about anything even during his battle with cancer. He would always say that he had a great life and loved his family deeply. He was such an encouragement to myself and others. I am glad to have known Kim as a colleague but mostly as a friend. He definitely changed my life in a positive way. Kim you will be missed. I know you are rejoicing in Heaven. Thanks for all the great memories my friend.

Kim was my fraternity "Pop" at Sigma Chi and I was extremely fortunate to have such a great mentor and friend. We stayed in touch over the years having both been in the same industry. I always looked forward to the annual AAOS meeting where I would typically get to see Kim. We would compare notes and discuss the industry and get caught up on our Sigma Chi brothers. He and his partner built one of the largest distributorships in the country in his segment of the orthopedic device market. Most importantly though, Kim was always there to listen and help where he could. I will miss him greatly!
